

Topcon Introduces Infrastructure and Technology Documentary Series

Topcon Positioning Group has announced a new series of documentary videos designed to bring greater awareness to automation and technology in the construction and agriculture industries. Along with thought leadership from Topcon, the documentaries feature interviews with various tangential industry experts and business representatives offering their perspectives on how technological advancements have changed infrastructure and what to expect going forward.

Jackie Ferreira, Topcon Positioning Group director of corporate communications, said, “We wanted to take a partnership approach to the video series to feature industry experts along with our thoughts at Topcon. The infrastructure industry is changing quickly, and this video series highlights how this advancement is part of a larger story of technology changing the paradigm everywhere. To stay on top, businesses will need to adopt automation and new technology.”

The series was filmed globally in the USA, Netherlands, United Kingdom, and Germany. Click here to watch the first installment.

For more information, visit www.topconpositioning.com/infrastructure.

<https://www.gim-international.com/content/news/topcon-introduces-infrastructure-and-technology-documentary-series-2>
